1. Note on Brivo API Services: Brivo has a Restful API that is fully documented in the link below. The primary uses of the API are to 1) manage users (add/delete card holders), 2) subscribe to events (ingest a door forced alarm) and 3) to control devices (unlock door). Dozens of software applications have been integrated with Brivo by 3rd parties using our API including Video Management systems, Active Directory, Membership Management Systems, Identity Management Systems, Visitor Management Systems, Physical Security Information Management Systems (PSIMS), Physical Access and Identity Management Systems (PAIMS), Hoteling Systems, Salesforce.com, Human Resources Systems, Event and Case Management Systems, Security Event and Incident Management Systems (SEIM). Brivo's API is intended for use by software developers interested in connecting their application to Brivo. The software development work is done by the 3rd party, using the standard API created by Brivo. API integrations are developed, validated and maintained by the 3rd party. Brivo is responsible for developing and maintaining the Brivo API. For more information please visit the following links or contact sales@brivo.com.

1. Note on Identity Connector SKUs: Identity Connector is a stand-alone service provided to synchronize user data from an authoritative source to the Brivo Account. An additional API subscription is not required. However, if more general use of the API is required in addition to the Identity Connector services, then an additional API Subscription is necessary.

2. Note on cellular services: Brivo recommends using the Brivo Cellular Network Modules for use with any ACS300-E or ACS6000-E panels in the USA, Canada and Europe. The Brivo Cellular Network Module is designed to only operate for access control with a Brivo panel. To use cellular for a Brivo Control Panel, order the cellular module and at installation, contact Technical Support to have the cellular services activated. To activate service you must have the CNM MAC/IMEI or SIM and the CP# for the panel to which the CNM will be connected.

Readers

Security Caution on Use of 125KHz Proximity Cards and Readers: 125KHz proximity cards and readers contain known vulnerabilities, are subject to skimming attacks and are easily cloned. For new customers, Brivo strongly recommends the use of more secure credentials such as Brivo's Smart Readers, Brivo Smart Credentials and Brivo Mobile Pass. For existing 125KHz proximity customers making the transition to secure credentials, we recommend installing new Smart readers wherever possible and upgrading to dual-technology credentials that can be used on the existing 125kHz proximity readers.
